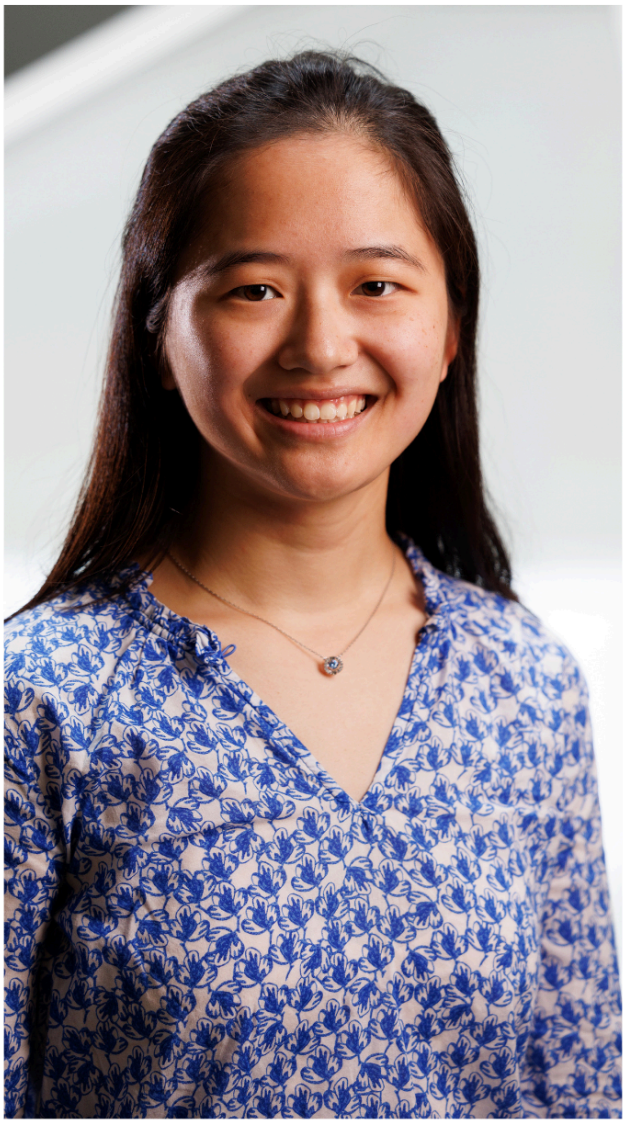
Duke Music Highlight

The downstairs and library of Biddle are where I hold many sweet memories! Whether it was for rehearsals or bumping into friends in practice rooms, I cherish time spent with musical friends and growing in those friendships through music, collaboration, and conversation.



What's Next

I'll be researching as a neuroscientist in Boston.

"Explore all the interesting classes the department has to offer! Reach out and make new friends! If you get the chance to collaborate on a music project with another student (for class, chamber, etc.) do it! College is a beautiful time with the rare opportunity for musical collaborations that you might not have so readily after graduation."
